

Guess Who is a two player game where players use yes or no questions to find a hidden character.

The first player to guess the other players hidden character wins.

Game Setup:

Each player takes their game board of characters and chooses one of them to be their 'Mystery Character'.

This is the character your opponent has to guess and the character you have to answer questions about.

The youngest player goes first, beginning by asking the other player a characteristic found on one of their visible characters (both players have the same images).

Example: " Does your character have brown hair?"

If they say, "yes," the asking player flips over all of the characters without brown hair.

If they say, "no," the asking player flips over the characters that have brown hair.

Through the process of elimination, players will eventually be able to "guess" the name of the opponents character.

Winning the game:

Each player gets one yes or no question per turn and may only guess (to win the game) once per game.

If a player successfully guesses their opponent's mystery character then they win; if their guess is wrong then they lose.

Guess Who is a two player game where players use yes or no questions to find a hidden character.

The first player to guess the other players hidden character wins.

Game Setup:

Each player takes their game board of characters and chooses one of them to be their 'Mystery Character'.

This is the character your opponent has to guess and the character you have to answer questions about.

The youngest player goes first, beginning by asking the other player a characteristic found on one of their visible characters (both players have the same images).

Example: " Does your character have brown hair?"

If they say, "yes," the asking player flips over all of the characters without brown hair.

If they say, "no," the asking player flips over the characters that have brown hair.

Through the process of elimination, players will eventually be able to "guess" the name of the opponents character.

Winning the game:

Each player gets one yes or no question per turn and may only guess (to win the game) once per game.

If a player successfully guesses their opponent's mystery character then they win; if their guess is wrong then they lose.